BAPA is a Registered Charity
No: 1142712

What is BAPA?

The British Association of Paediatricians in Audiology (BAPA) was inaugurated in 2007 as an association of paediatricians practising audio-vestibular medicine. BAPA has its roots in the former British Association of Community Doctors in Audiology (BACDA) an organisation begun in 1985 by a small group of clinicians dedicated to the development of high quality hearing assessments for children. For a small society BACDA has been remarkably effective. It has made significant contributions to the education of clinicians in the field of paediatric audiology, particularly doctors practising within Community Child Health Departments where historically most children's hearing assessment services have been managed.

During recent years there have been many technical advances and considerable organisational change, so that service structure and delivery is radically different from when BACDA began. BAPA while continuing to represent all paediatricians with an interest in children's hearing, and in whatever setting this is delivered, also seeks to be at the forefront of professional development in the field of paediatric audiovestibular medicine.

BAPA has an additional role as a special interest group of the Royal College of Paediatrics and Child Health (RCPCH) and has taken up the challenge to work closely with the RCPCH on workforce planning, development of competencies, standards and additional training for the practice of audiovestibular medicine.

BAPA Aims

The aims of the Association are:

- (a) The promotion of standards in both training and professional qualifications of Paediatricians working in audio-vestibular medicine and to contribute to the training of other professionals working in related disciplines.
- (b) The promotion of multidisciplinary working for the benefit of children and their families
- (c) The promotion of multidisciplinary working by maintaining and developing links with other professional bodies.
- (d) The holding of meetings, lectures and discussions in various regions and the publication at regular intervals of a newsletter for members.
